C. special of the 26th says: The committee on privileges and elections in the house reported adversely to-day upon the case of the entire Charleston delegation of seven men, including Speaker Mackey, to their seats in the Assembly. The ground of the report is that there was so much fraud and intimidation in that county as to vitiate the election. The evidence upon this point is overwhelming, derived from the report of the congressional sub committee which visited Charleston last fall.

Cabinet members said to-night the disaffected in the Northwest would accept Morton's cogent logic. The President is said to be much pleased with the letter, and intends to make an acknowledgment.
Chicago journals generally approve Morton's letter as statesmanlike and worthy of him.

Tatoosh Reserved.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The President to-day by executive order reserved the Island of Tatoosh, in Washington Territory, for light-house purposes.

Utah Affairs.

NEW YORK, May 26.—The Times' Washington special says: At the War Department it is not considered that any emergency exists in Utah which would require additional troops to be sent. The information received from military officers there does not sustain the sensational report recently printed with reference to threatened uprising among the Mormons. It is believed the present force of troops in Utah is sufficient to prevent any lawlessness. Emery expressed himself to this effect in private letters. At military headquarters the urgent appeals made for additional troops is regarded as being prompted more by the desire of settlers and post-traders to increase their business than from any hostility threatened by the Mormons. Most of the requests thus far received come from this class of people.

Boat Race.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—A four oared shell race between the Undines of Baltimore and the Analostons of this city, a mile down the Potomac and return, was won by the Analostons in eleven minutes and fifty-nine seconds.

Gauging Whisky.

CHICAGO, May 26.—The Times' Washington special says: investigation of the so-called liberal gauge method of whisky gauging, shows that this system exists at Pekin and at Cincinnati. A report was made to the department some time ago in which it was represented that gaugers in Pekin district allowed half a gallon wastage and that they claimed that Gen. Raum, when in Illinois last fall authorized them to do this and told them they need not be too severe in their measurements, but rather give distillers the benefit of a doubt. Since the late excitements it it is believed this fraud has been stopped.

All Straight.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Commissioner Raum states that a thorough investigation of the internal revenue bureau in Pekin and Peoria districts in Illinois show conclusively that no irregularities exist there. MEXICO.

The Mexican Muddle.

NEW YORK, May 26.—A special from New Orleans says Gen. Levesan, agent of President Lerdo, has just arrived here from Matamoras. He says arrangements have been made with the States of Mexico, Sinaloa, Hidalgo, Chipas, Jalisco, Tobasco and Campreche to pronounce for Lerdo as soon as an attempt is made from this side. Gen. Escobedo is in San Antonia engineering the project. It will be first made as a feint on the Northern Pacific side in Sonora, but the main attempt will be made near Matamoras. It is now stated that there are at least 200 men, deserters from the Mexican army and desperadoes generally who have already enlisted, and who, it is claimed as soon as they enter Mexico will be joined by a large number of the army.

Mexican Transit.

SAN DIEGO, May 26.—The Union's special from Tucson has Guaymas dates to the 18th. J. S. Queroga and A. Almada, Sonora congressmen, left for the City of Mexico with instructions to labor for the Sonora Railroad subsidy, for a liberal transit privilege through Sonora to Arizona. Merchants backed the instruction by a petition to Congress.

THE WAR IN THE EAST.

Turks Assume the Offensive.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 25.—Intelligence has been received from Kara Kilisia that the Turks, having received considerable reinforcements, intend assuming the offensive.

Turkish Headquarters Removed.

ERZEROUM, May 24.—Mukhtar Pasha's head quarters will be removed hither. This does not signify retreat, but will redress a fault, as Erzeroum is the point of junction of all the Armenian roads, and is the only place from which operations can be directed.
A special from Erzeroum reports that the column of Circassians from Erzeroum is pushing forward at Bayazid to cut off the Russian advance in that quarter.

Bulgarians Rising.

WIDDIN, May 25.—Reports are current of a Bulgarian rising at Wratza and Bergomitz, in the Balkans.

Sharp Diplomatic Controversy.

PESTH, May 25.—Roumania's reply to Count Andrassy's note respecting the free navigation of the Danube was unsatisfactory. The Austrian government replied, in energetic terms, that it is not disposed to recognize Roumania as a belligerent.

Fortifying Kinere.

A telegram from Transylvania states that the Russians are fortifying positions near Kinere, within a league of the Hungarian frontier.

Egyptians Going to the War.

ALEXANDRIA, May 25.—Egyptian contingent is now embarking.

Roumanian Embarrassment.

The question whether the Roumanian army will cross the Danube as advised by the war party is now seriously embarrassing the Roumanian government, and it is impossible to foresee the cabinet's decision. The Austrian government has informed the Roumanian ministers that it feels a friendly interest in the new state, and as Roumania has now attained her independence Austria cannot see why she should cross the Danube in search of anything else.

Russian Army in Asia.

LONDON, May 26.—A Times dispatch from Berlin states that the Russian main army in Asia, which took Ardahan, is 70,000 strong. A portion of this force having since been detached, Batoum is now seriously imperiled.

Recall of the Reserves.

The recall of Russian reserves from Verna and Lelgrade is attributed to the wish to avoid discussions about the possibility of Servia participating in the war.

Destination of the Russian Squadron.

A special from Berlin reports that some vessels of the Russian squadron which left America with sealed orders will return to Cronstadt, and others will anchor before Gibraltar to intercept neutral ships carrying arms and ammunition for Turkey.

Russians in Roumania.

LONDON, May 26.—A correspondent of the Daily News at Vienna says it is stated on good authority that the Russian army in Roumania does not yet exceed 130,000. Three complete army corps have not yet crossed the Pruth.

Moving Masses of Troops.

The News' Bucharest dispatch says: Between Galatz and Bucharest the railway is all but blocked by a series of immensely long trains crowded with infantry. Bucharest constitutes the principal center where the columns radiate to their respective destinations on the Danube. Another important artery is the road from Busco to Oltenitza.

Danube Still Rising.

WIDDIN, May 25.—During the week the river has risen three feet.

A Fight at Nikopolis.

NIKOPOLIS, May 25.—There was a brisk engagement near this place between the Turkish ironclads and Russian fortifications. The Turks destroyed the earthworks and the enemy retreated, leaving forty dead on the field.

Stirring up the Moslems.

Fifty Ulemas have been landed in the Crimea to excite the Moslem inhabitants against Russia.

Fleeing from the Softas

Private messages received at Vienna assert that the Sultan fled to the Asiatic shore of the Bosporus on the approach of a procession of Softas and only returned after the proclamation of a state of siege.

Persia and Turkey.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 26.—The Persian minister has remitted a note to Safoet Pasha repudiating warlike intentions. The Shah will maintain with the Porte the friendship befitting the two great Mohammedan nations.

The Softa Demonstration.

It is officially announced that the Softas' demonstration was the work of a few thoughtless persons, and the Porte, to prevent similar disturbances for the future, has arrested the promoters.

VIENNA, May 25.—In government circles here the Softa demonstration is regarded as as the commencement of another revolution.

VIENNA, May 25.—The Abendblatt says: Thursday's demonstration in Constantinople assumed very serious proportions. Many thousands of people, led by armed Softas, presented themselves before the palace to demand the dismissal of the ministry and the recall of Midhat Pasha. The Sultan fled to a fortress on the Asiatic side. Military dispersed the crowd, wounding many. The Christians fled out of the city, and many Europeans took refuge on board the ships. The consternation was general.

A Monitor Blown Up.

BUCHAREST, May 26.—It is just announced here that the Russians have blown up a large monitor on the Danube by means of launches bearing torpedoes.

Constantinople News Items.

LONDON, May 26.—A Vienna special says the proclamation of holy war, looks like yielding to a popular demand, which has been growing louder daily, that the Sultan join the army. The proposal that the Sultan quit Constantinople has raised a question whether it is safe to leave the parliament, which is becoming more and more difficult to manage. It is felt at the palace that Mukhtar Pasha's incapacity necessitates his recall, yet the first attempt to influence the course of affairs may mature the Porte's resolution to check interference by prorogation at least.

Help for the Wounded.

Subscriptions are being raised in Berlin for wounded Russians. Large sums are coming in.

Greeks Arming.

ATHENS, May 26.—A new Greek army corps is forming in Thessaly.

New Turkish War Council.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 26.—A council has been established at the war office to direct military operations. Minister of war Redif Pasha, or in his absence, Raouf Pasha, will preside. Amongst the members are Mehemid Pachch, a former grand vizier, the minister of marine, senator Famik Pasha, Halim Pasha, Said Pasha, aid de camp to Sultan Mahamoud, Damad, grand master of artillery, Ouzi Pasha, and other high officials.

Panic Stricken.

MOSCOW, May 26.—Intelligence from Eparoia announces that most of the wealthier families have fled to Simferapil and other towns in the interior. All shops are shut; the roadstead is deserted, all the merchant ships having left, and the small vessels have been sunk or hauled ashore.

LONDON, May 26.—Turkish sympathizers here are panic stricken by the announcement that Mukhtar Pasha removes his headquarters to Erzeroum. This is a practical acknowledgement that the attempt to incite a serious Circass an demonstration against the invaders' flank has failed. It also means the abandonment of Kars to its fate, because it has already been outflanked, and because of the probable inability to hold the Songaton passes against the Russians for want of heavy guns in position, in which case Erzeroum itself must soon fall, and the Turks retreat entirely from that section as the alternative of capture. The Turks have been thoroughly outgeneraled and it is difficult to see how even desperate valor can relieve their misfortunes. Already the Russians hold the key to all the Black Sea coast in Asiatic Turkey, worth battling for.

Condition of the Turkish Army in Asia

LONDON, May 26.—Sir Arnold Kimball, military attache, gives the most deplorable account of the Turkish army in Asia, which he represents as lacking everything an army should have, except courage and patience. He anticipates that the Russian arms will not encounter serious military resistance in Asia, and that the only difficulties they will have to encounter are those of the country and climate.

Removal of the Russian Headquarters.

TIFLIS, May 26.—The Russian headquarters will be moved to Alexandropol in a few days.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 26.—The Czar has issued a proclamation forbidding the granting of letters of marque, and says he accepts the declaration of the treaty of Paris regarding free navigation to neutrals, and guarantees a careful observance of this provision of the treaty.

Russians Slightly Whipped.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 26.—A detachment of Russians attacked the villages of Alakbo and Ielink, near Batoum, on Thursday, but were repulsed with a loss of 150 killed and many wounded. A Russian major and four captains were killed. The Turkish loss was seven killed and eleven wounded.

Turkish War Movements.

MANCHESTER, May 26.—The Guardian has a dispatch from Shumla dated Thursday which says a great concentration of troops has been effected, and the number between the fortification and camp has been estimated at 60,000 infantry and 50,000 horsemen. The troops are held in constant readiness to march, but the generals do not expect to be called into action for another month. The elite of the Turkish officers are assembled here and appear to be anxious for a speedy encounter with the enemy. A strong body has been sent forward to occupy the defile at Pravady, Varna and Rutschuk. The railway pass through the defile is in a position of the greatest importance. The condition of the troops is satisfactory, and that of the fortifications and camp at that can be desired. Several thousand Circassian horsemen are now on the way here.

Russia's Object in the War.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The Herald's correspondent at St. Petersburg had a interview with prominent Russian diplomatist from which he concludes that Russia in making war upon Turkey has a twofold object; first, by her advance into Asia to gain the right of way and passage to China, and second, by her operations in Europe to obtain the freedom of the different tributary States, namely, Bulgaria, Herzegovina, Roumania, Servia and Bosnia, and she would guarantee these provinces their independence no matter against what power. In other words she would form a defensive and offensive alliance with those liberated territories. The correspondent was informed that long before an army could be brought in front of the walls of Constantinople peace would be made. The terms of peace would perhaps include the surrender on the part of Turkey of a portion of her fleet and the consummation of a treaty placing Constantinople under joint control of all the foreign powers. Russia has no intention of advancing into India, for her ambition is to become master and possessor of part of the Celestial Empire. Toward this end her inroads into Asia are directed.

Strength of the Two Armies and General Plan of Operations.

The center of the Asiatic army, under Gen. Melikoff, is estimated at 80,000 men and 240 cannon. The right wing of the Ivan corps, under Gen. Oklolife, numbers 45,000 men and 140 guns. The left wing of the Ivan corps, under Gen. Tergukadoff, numbers 50,000 men and 155 guns.
The Turks have about 70,000 men in the neighborhood of Erzeroum and about 76,000 at Kars. It is impossible to give reliable accounts of the number of their guns, as those sent from Constantinople may be still at Trebizond or on the road.
All signs indicate that the Russians intend to attack Mukhtar's position by two flank movements; one from the line at Arlvin and Ardanusch, the other from Bayazid. The Turks are fortifying Erzering in anticipation of being forced to leave Erzeroum.
A revolt in the Caucasus can be productive only of petty annoyance in view of the precautions adopted and the advance of the Russian army, which is closely followed by another army of civil functionaries, so that by the time the Russian commanders get to Erzeroum all of that Pashalik east of the river will be a Russian province. The districts of Surugel, Bayazid and Dyadine are under Russian administration. That Erzeroum will be permanently occupied is a conviction openly expressed in authoritative circles in Tiflis.
On the Danube a new element must be taken into account in defining the present situation or discussing the probabilities for the future, namely, the Servians, who, it is confidently asserted, have occupied the chief positions on and near Timok with 20,000 men and 84 guns, under General Horvetovitch, as their headquarters, and 10,000 men are said to be at Negotin, 6,000 at Saitschar, 2,000 at Kladova, 2,000 at Roggeva and Bliavanootz, and a second corps of 8,000 to 10,000 strong is said to be concentrating at Barjol under Ranko Alemovich, from Gruja, on the Roumanian bank of the Danube, and Radujevatz. On the Servian shore is a chain of sentinels to Turnazverin and Khedava, within call of each other, to watch and give notice of movements of the Turks. Russian or Roumanian detachments also occupy the Kerb and Ostrov islands, on the Danube, opposite Turnazverin and Cheguiscba. A system of the Russian advances seems to be that points first occupied by one corps are ceded to another as it marches up, when he first continues in march to their real destination. Thus men are spared the fatigue of continuous march, whilst the line remains unbroken.
The Turks have in Widdin about 60,000 men and 13 batteries; in Adlie, 5,400 men and 4 batteries; in Bregova, 2,000 men, 2 batteries and 12 battalions at Sofia, with 6 batteries and 4,000 Bashi Bazouks further down the Danube.
The Russians will probably cross in force between Orsova and Nikopolis, and again between Sistov and Rustchuk. To oppose this the Turks have at Orsova 5 battalions and 1 battery; at Nikopolis, 8 battalions and 2 batteries, and about 2,000 cavalry. Besides a garrison of 2,000 men at Sistova are 5 battalions and 1 battery. At Rustchuk is a field army of 50,000, with 54 guns; at Silistria, 32,000 men, and at Shumla 52 battalions and 10 batteries, and at Varna about 20 battalions. The left wing of the field army is 45,000 to 50,000 strong, and rests on Widdin, 20,000 garrisoning the fortress. The centre rests on Rustchuk, where the garrison is also 20,000 strong. The right wing in Dobrutscha will consist of 45,000 men, to be made up of forces from Silistria and Varna, each of which will retain the garrison of 10,000. A reserve of 64 battalions will be formed at Shumla, which would bring the Turkish field army up to 220,000, but these 64,000 reserves are as yet in the future.

The object of the Russian attack on Batoum.

LONDON, May 27.—One of the best roads in Asia Minor runs from Batoum along the river Choruk, through Ortveen to Olti, and thence to Bardez, and the road crosses the river about 50 miles northeast of Perkanek, and follows a tributary of the Choruk to Lortoum, guarding the northern entrance of the pass leading into the valley of Kara or western Euphrates, thence it runs through a swampy valley south of which lies Erzeroum. The importance of this road cannot be overrated. It is the best and shortest line of communication between Erzeroum and the seacoast. The object of the Russian attack on Batoum is thought to be less to obtain possession of the town than the control of this road, and cut off communication with Erzeroum. They have succeeded and pushed their advance already to Ardanuc from Ardahan. One road runs southward to Kars, another to Ardanutsch, where it branches west to Arlvin and south to Tarasgeam and Olti. A third road leads from Ardahan via Urut across the Chanly mountains to Olti and Bardez. On their retreat from Ardahan Turks used the roads leading westward and southwestward, part escaping to Ardanutsch and part across the Chanly mountains to Olti. Dispatches received from Turkish sources report Russians have since occupied the Olti road from Kars to Erzeroum, which divides a short distance from Kars, the branches running nearly parallel to the north, through the pass in the Sogohude range, a little south of Bardez, and southern through Delimusa, and across a similar pass to a junction with the northern branch at Chornusan. One road leads from Erivan, through the valley of Aras, to Cagis na. Here it branches northward to Kars, communicating by a side road with Getschevan. A more important road from Erivan is the highway leading via Aralych across the Persian frontier to Bursian, Sulumursa and Bayazid. This road was used by the Russians in their advance upon Bayazid. The Tsarevivan column had at last accounts reached Jennos. The plan of the Russian advance is thus clear.

Turkish Reports.

Mukhtar Pasha telegraphs that the Russians are making forward movements from various sides. He also reports several small engagements, especially in the neighborhood of Kars, all resulting favorably for the Turks, and claims the Russians, in taking Ardahan, lost 6,000 men.

General War Notes.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 26.—It is reported that the Russian bombardment of Kars has slackened.
The Russians are advancing on Erzeroum. Their right wing is at Olti and the left at Van. The Russian attempt to throw a bridge over the river before the Turkish lines at Batoum was repulsed with loss.
CONSTANTINOPLE, May 27.—Circassians in Transcaucasia have surrendered their arms to the Russians.
A telegram from Erzeroum states that a Turkish force of 10,000 from Van, which had been concentrated at Barquirir, is advancing toward Bayazid.
A dispatch says the Levant Herald has been suppressed for a month for disparaging the minister of war.
The reports of the Tartar insurrection in the Crimea which have been recently circulated are without foundation.
The famous General Todleben has arrived at Sebastopol to take command of the defenses.
BUCHAREST, May 27.—The ministerial bill for the issue of paper money meets with great opposition in the chambers.
The Turks are stationing pickets of 30 men at intervals of two and a half miles along the whole Turkish bank of the Danube, communicating with each other by signals.
The waters of the Danube, Sequina and Aluti are completely out of their banks.
A dispatch from the army of the Caucasus says Gen. Melikoff, with eight battalions and some artillery, and Gen. Dewell, with seven battalions, have left Ardahan to join the force near Kars.
The Turks landed 3,000 mountaineers in the neighborhood of Adlon on the 22d. Troops have been dispatched from Koulin district to occupy the mountain passes and have had a number of trifling encounters in Abechas. The Bayazid column had made a reconnoissance towards Van.
The Turkish irregulars who have been threatening their rear fled before the Russian advance.
The Danube is still too swollen and rapid to attempt the construction of a bridge.
The destruction of another Turkish monitor in the Matchin channel will tend further to paralyze efforts of the Turks to obstruct the Russian operations by means of the Danube flotilla.

The Abyssinian Revolt.

LONDON, May 25.—Advices of May 23 report that the Abyssinian insurgents have suffered considerable loss in a sharply contested engagement.

Republicanism in France.

PARIS, May 25.—Minister Foulon has ordered the stoppage of several telegrams to Republican provincial newspapers. In Republican circles the belief is expressed that a plot will shortly be discovered in Paris, Lyons or Marseilles, which will serve the government as a pretext for acts of severity.

MacMahon's Policy Outlined.

NEW YORK, May 26.—A dispatch from Paris says Prest MacMahon, speaking at the Campaigne to-day, said that the recent change of cabinet officers only assures the stability of the interior and the peace of the exterior of France. He will not mix with outside policies.

The French Disturbance.

BERLIN, May 26.—The ministerialist organ continues to comment on the French crisis, and says France, ruled by the Vatican, is the center of a papal system which threatens the world's peace, and is preparing a crusade against Germany. A disturbance of the peace is inevitable should France continue the course now taken.

Spanish Conspirators.

MADRID, May 25.—The minister of the interior has informed Congress that the persons who were recently arrested charged with conspiring against public order were half pay officers. The plot was disclosed by subordinate officers, to whom the conspirators made overtures. The minister hinted that the conspirators were adherents of Senor Zorilla. It is reported among those arrested is an advanced radical brigadier general.

The Trouble at Nancy.

LONDON, May 26.—A Paris correspondent says a letter from Nancy shows that the alleged ill-treatment of two German officers is grossly exaggerated, they were merely abused by two drunken men.

NORTHWEST AND SOUTHWEST.

Reports have been in circulation ever since the electoral commission concluded its work, imputing to President Hayes a willingness to approve the great system of subsidies demanded by the Southern States, as a kind of compromise on the Presidential question. The matter is discussed by those most directly interested as if there were a sort of silent but perfectly understood agreement that the President is to encourage their plans. The New York Times discusses this subject at length. It believes that these stories do Mr. Hayes injustice; "they convey too distinctly the idea of bargaining and buying" to be believed without clearer proof than is yet afforded. At the same time certain "corroborative indications" are mentioned by the Times. Mr. Hayes' personal friends "who were most active in his behalf during the excitement which attended the labors of the electoral commission happen to have been in every instance known advocates of the Texas Pacific scheme. The Southern senators and members with whom these gentlemen held confidential intercourse are as conspicuously identified with that scheme, and with the efforts to fasten it upon the treasury. The coincidence may have been accidental, but at any rate it was suggestive. As between Mr. Matthews and Mr. Lamar, for example, it indicates a bond of sympathy whose ramifications are further exemplified by the record of the convention over which the Ohio senator presided, and in whose proceedings the present secretary of the navy played a prominent part." The paper which presents this statement of coincidences does, however, admit that "these evidences might be multiplied many times and still not compromise the President;" though "the faith reposed in his integrity will not suffice to counteract the distrust."

At the last session the House committee reported in favor of a system which embraces a trunk line for the Texas Pacific 1,287 miles long, and eastern connections aggregating 1,018 miles more. The whole amount of bonds would be about seventy millions of dollars. In many places the Mississippi levees destroyed by the war have never been renewed, and there is a demand that, as a further measure of pacification, they shall be replaced and greatly extended. Estimates for this work are not presented with any approach to exactness; but it is understood that the cost would be very great. If charges of such magnitude be laid upon the treasury for the benefit of the Southwest, we of the Northwest will hardly be able to obtain anything. For an omnibus scheme of colossal proportions, to include all that everybody wants, would be broken down by its own weight. A proposition for reasonable aid to both sections might succeed. But the demand for the Southwest, as set forth in the report of the House committee, is far too extravagant. Those numerous eastern connections, branching in all directions from Fort Worth, in Texas, overload the proposed subsidy, nearly double its amount, and are only of local benefit. They are in no sense of national importance. Cut them off, and there would be a chance to obtain recognition for the claims of the Northwest. But the idea so studiously propagated that the Southern section of the United States is to have all it wants simply because it acquiesced in the inauguration of President Hayes, is entirely beyond patience. Aid to a moderate extent for both sections will be proper and fair; but any such enormous scheme as that insisted on for the Southwest can succeed only by leaving us of the Northwest out altogether. Let this matter be watched. The great preponderance of Southern influence in Congress, backed on this subject, as the Times shows, by certain men of the North who are known to be the President's closest friends, and who act as if they had entered into an understanding with men of the South as a sort of political bargain, makes it highly important that representatives of the interests of the Northwest should be wide awake.

EAST OF THE MOUNTAINS.

The press of the eastern portion of our State and Washington Territory is making more effort than at any former time to set forth the advantages offered to settlers in that great division of country. The extent and excellence of its resources are asserted with more confidence than formerly, and greater pains are taken to furnish all possible information to attract population. It need not be doubted that these efforts are leading to very important results. More than to any other cause, the rapid settlement of the lands east of the mountains, now in progress, is due to the faithful vigilance and industry of the press of that section. To this fact we are glad to bear witness. As a general rule the helpful agency of the press in these matters is too little recognized or understood. Formerly Eastern Oregon was scarcely considered as a competitor in agriculture with the western portion of the State; but now the Mountaineer is before us with an article boldly advising people who come to the State, wanting lands, not to spend their money for improved farms in the Willamette valley until they have paid a visit to the eastern side of the mountains and examined that country for themselves.

Beyond question for very many this is good advice. For all who want free homesteads in the open country, there are boundless opportunities east of the Cascades. Another class prefer timbered lands, and all such for the next quarter of a century may find homes on free lands in Western Oregon and Washington. Others come prepared to buy improved farms in older communities, where social and educational advantages have long existed, and lines of transportation bring markets within easy reach. Such usually seek the Willamette valley. For every one of these classes Oregon's great diversity of lands and situations offers excellent opportunities as could be desired.

Many who go east of the mountains proceed no further than Wasco county; and the Dalles Tribune says there is still abundant room. But all our eastern counties, as well as those of Washington Territory, are receiving such accession of numbers as gives them new life. We congratulate that section on its highly promising future.

The old Saturday Evening Post, of Philadelphia, which once had a circulation of 90,000 copies and was the most popular of the weekly story papers, was sold recently to satisfy a judgment of $5,000 and did not bring enough to cover it. The proprietor of a Sunday paper of the city was purchaser. The Post was established in 1821. Twenty-five years ago it had a big club at nearly every postoffice on this coast. It has been steadily running down for fifteen years.

The strategy of the Russians seems to partake a little of the famous anaconda business, so familiar to all of us during our war. It took nearly four years to perfect that strategy. If Russia should be so long about it we would get off several wheat harvests at war prices.

A NOBLE PAIR OF BROTHERS.

A. Noltner and J. O'Meara seem to be better friends now than they were awhile ago. Tony is parading Jimmy's opinions of several persons, and promises more from the same source. He makes great display of them, and evidently rates them at high value. Tony will therefore be delighted to see a reprint of Jimmy's opinions of him. Willing always to be neighborly, we therefore copy the following article from the Daily Oregon Bulletin of March 19, 1874—James O'Meara, publisher and editor. The article has the caption:

"JUST SOME PLEASANT WORDS."

Any who personally know the champion brave and gifted litterateur who runs the Oregon City Enterprise will appreciate how perilous a thing it is to incur his displeasure, or to question anything he says. And as we are fearful of being utterly annihilated we shall be exceedingly careful how we deal with the wonderful man. He pronounces us false these charges viz.: That J. D. Fay cowhided or caned him in Corvallis several years ago; that he begged Fay to support him for State Printer in 1862; and that he had been guilty of a larceny in San Francisco before he came to Oregon.

Now, we engage to prove by Judge Thayer and a number of other prominent citizens of Corvallis, that Fay did severely cowhide or beat with a stick Anthony Noltner, present editor of the Enterprise, on the principal street of Corvallis, several years ago, and that he whined and begged like a spaniel under the castigation. Next we will engage to prove by Mr. Fay himself that Noltner did send just such a letter to him in 1862 as we have stated. And, lastly, if Noltner shall dare to deny the commission of the larceny, we will engage to so prove it on him as shall convince the most skeptical of his present admirers. We know what we are talking about in these matters, and now just to give the dear little Tony another friendly lift, now that he is elevated to the rank and pomp of a Major in the Oregon militia, we will add that we have also evidence that he was sold—absolutely sold—by his own father, in Wisconsin, to a gentleman whom we well knew in California some years ago, and to show the estimation in which his father held him, he sold him for twenty acres of mighty poor land—mostly swamppy at that—worth perhaps fifty dollars.

Come, Tony, you have indulged in your little prods at us for ever so long, and because we did not deem you worthy of attention, you thought we would say nothing. If that vain empty pate of yours had any sense in it, you would let us alone. And if that craven little spirit of yours had so much as a spark of the man in it, we should respond to you in somewhat different manner. But for the fact that you occupy a place somebody ought to fill, and they who do not know you may imagine you therefore to be somebody, we never would have stooped to thus pick you up. But since you have crept inside of the lion's skin, and try to imitate the lion's roar, you shall get, if not the sort of cudgeling Fay administered to you, just what so silly but vain a little ass deserves at our hands. This is part of it now. Of course, Tony, dear, we shall not descend to reply—neither to admit nor deny—to anything you say of us. That would be too farcical, too foolish altogether. Keep your temper, Tony, love; don't let the slumbering lion in you get aroused, pet. You might do yourself a mischief, sweet one. Happy days! More a'coming. Tony, strip!

Very pleasant reading this, isn't it, Tony? Your friend and co-laborer says naughty things about you. Read over the above carefully and calmly a couple of times more and remember that the writer is your own witness, Tony, and since you have placed him on the stand no court in either hemisphere will allow you to discredit him. On this point get your law editor to overhaul his Greenleaf and Phillips, and when found to make a note of it. In cross-examining your witness it pains us to find him calling you a thief and offering to prove it. It strikes us, Major, that this is slightly personal, but we trust it is not offensive. Now, Major, be calm. Don't you go and retort on Jimmy. Don't republish on him, out of your Enterprise files, those counter-charges with which its columns teemed and which proved him to be about as dirty a fellow as he proves you, unless you tell wrong stories on each other; and it would be very unhandsome in us to charge you with that. Don't taunt him with larceny of that letter of Holladay's to Ingalls which he was showing here. Stick to your partner in this nice business. Encourage the theft of all the letters you can, falsify the contents and give them garbled publicity. It is fine business for the pair of you, and highly characteristic, if your testimonials of each other are to be believed, and it doesn't become us to throw doubt on them. That would be very culpable discourtesy. And of course you would'nt accuse Jimmy now. You will cultivate him rather, for he is your valued San Francisco correspondent, and has such versatility as to be able, at the same time, to write you letters from Washington City and Salem,—correspondence from three places at once. That larceny with which your friend and confederate charges you, Major, did it give you much trouble on your recent visit to San Francisco? And, pardon the solicitude, are the stripes of that flagellation healed? If you find it necessary to go to San Francisco to obtain treatment for them, just get your witness to take back the above paper and give you a new certificate of character. On your part overhaul your files of the Enterprise and revise your opinions of him. You are friends now, remember, and partners in business congenial to both of you. Another point, however: That little transaction in swamp land which your friend mentions, was it the first "swamp land swindle" in the West? The old opinions which your present confederate published concerning you are no doubt pleasant reading just now for you, and a revelation besides to your present associates in the newspaper business who are newcomers and don't know your history as your valued correspondent does. Nothing like a first-rate certificate from an unimpeachable source;—and once more, remember that he is your witness. Continue to give prominent place in your paper to his letters, and to vouch for their truthfulness and excellence. Now, Tony, you may by this time be getting a hint that this business isn't so agreeable as you supposed. It has led, you see, to results you didn't expect, and you have only yourself to blame for it. This re-publication you have provoked with a persistent wantonness, and therefore it is only what you deserve. If you want any more of your friend and correspondent's opinions of yourself they can be furnished at greater length from files of the Commercial, the Bulletin, and other papers that he published in Oregon. For the present this will do. "Happy days, Tony, and more a'coming!" In case Jimmy's next letter from San Francisco, Washington or Salem don't reach you in time, just insert in lieu of it his article from the Bulletin, printed herewith! It isn't copyrighted, Tony, and you may use it freely. Pad it out a little after your manner of doing such things, and it will make about four first-class letters,—one relating to the stripes, one to the larceny, one to the swamp land, and one to the "vain little ass" and miscellaneous matters.

One of those vigilant fellows at Washington who gather straws that fly before the wind has found out from the friends of Senator Conkling that he is quite chagrined at the receptions and attentions accorded by the administration to ex-Senator Fenton, his old rival. Now that it is announced that Fenton is to have a leading foreign mission, the bitterness is deeper still. Conkling's friends say he is sorry he did not prevent Louisiana from being counted for Hayes, as he could have done, and that when Congress meets he will be found opposing the administration. All this is found out by the keenness of the Philadelphia Times. It is a noticeable fact, however, that Conkling has not been at the White House since Hayes entered it. The hostility of the Conklings and Fenton wings in New York toward each other is extreme. It is one of the main causes that account for such heavy Democratic majorities in that State for some years past.

They say east of the mountains that if 'silver mud' yields only $10 a ton it will be equal in value to rock bearing $70: so much the more easily is it worked.

ASBESTOS FELTING

For Steam Boilers, etc.—The best Conductor in use.

WARNING TO INFRINGERS.

The U. S. and Foreign Salamander Felting Co. hereby notifies, cautions, and warns the public and particularly engineers and proprietors of steam machinery—that their patents for "Asbestos Boiler Covering," having been fully sustained by repeated decisions of the U. S. Courts, all infringers will be duly prosecuted.

Some of the more important of the above mentioned decisions were against the "Asbestos Felting Company, of New York," and parties using their material. Pamphlets containing full accounts of these and other cases will be furnished on application. It must be remembered that those using an infringement are as liable to prosecution as those manufacturing and vending it.

All parties on this Coast, having used the "Asbestos Felting," (of New York,) and Merrill's so called "Steatite Felting," (which analysis shows to infringe in nearly every case), or any other infringing material, are hereby notified that they will in time be called upon for ROYALTY and DAMAGES but are at the same time cautioned against paying such royalty or damage to any but the authorized agents of the Salamander Felting Co.

Ours are the only Patents for Boiler Covering that have ever been established by the Courts.

OFFICE OF INSURANCE COMMISSIONER,
San Francisco, Feb. 5, 1877.

I, J. W. Foard, hereby certify that I am Insurance Commissioner of the State of California, and have supervision of insurance business in the State, and as such Commissioner, further certify that the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California is a corporation properly organized under the laws of this State, and being in a solvent condition and possessed of a paid up capital of One Hundred Thousand Dollars, equal to Gold Coin of the United States, is authorized to do business in the State. And I further certify that, upon a personal examination of the books and papers of the said company at the close of the year eighteen hundred and seventy-six, its statement as of this date, and now on file in this office, was shown to be correct and true the company being possessed of good, valid assets amounting to one million two hundred and sixty-four thousand eight hundred and thirty-six dollars and eighty-six cents ($1,264,836 86), and having outstanding liabilities, as defined by the laws of the State, amounting to nine hundred and sixteen thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars and five cents ($916,750 05), exclusive of the Capital Stock.

As witness my hand and official seal, the day and year first above written.

J. W. FOARD,
Insurance Commissioner.

[Extract from Report of A. D. SMITH, ex-Deputy Insurance Commissioner.]

J. G. Edwards, Publisher Coast Review,

Dear Sir:—In pursuance of your request I have made an examination of the Assets and Liabilities of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California, as they existed on the 31st day of December, 1876, as shown by the books and papers of the Company, and as a result of such examination I beg to report as follows:

Total Assets, Gold	$1,281,847 99
Re-Insurance Reserve, American Experience, 4½ per ct.	$861,031 49
Claims for Death Losses	36,700 00
Due on Account Salaries and Rents	2,019 02
Total Liabilities, Gold	916,750 51
Net surplus to Policy-holders, Gold	$365,097 08
Company's paid up Capital	$1,000 00

The above is, I believe, a true and fair statement of the Company's condition Dec. 31, 1876.

In conclusion, I beg to say that I found the Company's business thoroughly systematized—its books and papers in excellent condition and neatly kept. Every facility was extended to me by all the officers and employees of the Company to enable me to make my examination through. Books, papers, and accounts were freely exhibited to me. There was no attempt to hold back or conceal anything. I am satisfied the Company counts the most rigid scrutiny. For courteous treatment, I beg to return thanks to the officers and attaches of the Company.

Respectfully submitted,
A. D. SMITH.
San Francisco, February 6, 1877.

Commissioner Foard excludes items of assets not admitted under the laws of California, amounting to $17,010 73.

After committing the forgery, Shears negotiated the paper with a gentleman residing in Marion county. With the proceeds, the young man went to Walla Walla. ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION.—Saturday articles of incorporation were filed in the county clerk's office by Wm. K. Ish, Chas. Hogue and O. P. Hogue, incorporators. The name by which this corporation shall be known is "The Oregon and Alaska Mining Company," as set forth in the articles the enterprise and object of the company is to mine for gold, silver and other minerals in Oregon, Washington and Alaska Territories and British Columbia; to hold, own and deal in stocks, mines and personal property; locate and lay out towns; to build, buy, sell or own hydraulic works, flumes, dirt roads, bridges, steam mills and other mills, railroads, tram roads, dirt roads, bridges, steam mills and other roads. A DESERVED APPOINTMENT.—The Evening Telegram says: "Mrs. William S. Ogden, so well and favorably known in this city, sailed yesterday for Washington City on the steamship Ajax, and upon her arrival there will assume the duties of clerk in the Treasury Department. Her appointment was secured by Gen. George H. Williams, who, recognizing her worth, sought to lighten her battle with life by placing her in a position of comparative independence. The selection is a worthy one and all who know the lady in question will wish her success in her new field of labor."

ARRIVAL.—Mr. B. Loewenberg, a well known business gentleman of Lewiston, was united in marriage yesterday with Miss Harriet Oppenheimer, of this city, at the residence of J. Loewenberg. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. M. May, in the presence of a few invited guests. A grand military parade will take place at the garrison at Vancouver, Decoration Day, at 11 o'clock A. M. Gen. Howard will be present.

W. S. Ladd, Esq., is, we learn, still at Hot Springs, Arkansas. He writes that his general health is good, but that he is still weak in his limbs.

Mr. L. R. Patton, for several months salesman with Clarke & Henderson, will be a passenger on the Mattie Macleay for Honolulu. Ill health necessitates a change of climate.

A sailor, arrested a few days ago on a charge of creating a disturbance in a Chinese cigar shop, was tried before a justice of the peace and discharged on insufficiency of evidence.

This is pretty good from the Mining and Immigration Journal: The time is now fast approaching when a Portlander can sit on the contemplated bridge across the Willamette and "telephone" a story about the taxes.

Cheek has long been recognized as one of the exclusive and cardinal characteristics of the donkey. The "wide awake" reporter down street furnishes proof of the truth of this statement. He actually pretends to be a linguist (?) But then the ass always was a vain, presuming beast, notwithstanding the disadvantages of long ears and a bad voice.

YOUNG OREGONIANS ABROAD.

Edward H. Brooke, Oregon's cadet in the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., will arrive in this city during the latter part of June, on a visit to his parents. A further course of two years' instructions will place Ed a second lieutenant in the U. S. A., to win glory and renown upon the tented field.

Mr. John Michell, for some years a compositor in the OREGONIAN office, will graduate with honors from the law school at Ann Arbor, Michigan, in a few weeks. He went East nearly three years ago to complete his legal studies, and expects to start for his old home in Oregon after receiving his sheepskin.

In the Boston Herald of a late date we observe an account of the eleventh annual speaking for the Drapers' prizes for excellence in elocution at Phillips' Andover Academy. The exercises took place before a large and intelligent audience. Among the list of elocutionary contestants we observe the name of Charles E. Ladd, son of W. S. Ladd, Esq. The subject chosen by this young gentleman was "Pericles before the Areopagus."

George F. Wilson, youngest son of Dr. R. B. Wilson, is pursuing a course of studies at the University of Virginia, near Charlotteville, Virginia. That institution of learning is one of the oldest and most popular in the Sunny South; its founder was Thos. Jefferson, third President of the United States. The introduction of George amongst the F. F. Vs. has not weaned his affections from the Webfoot State, as his letters plainly evince. He expects to finish his medical studies next year.

The name of Mr. Charles Holder, a young gentleman well known in Portland, also occurs among the list. His subject was "Grit." In speaking of the contest the Herald says: "The speaking was of an unusually high standard of excellence, and drew from the committee of award the remark that it averaged a higher standard of excellence than that attained in many of our colleges. The first prize was awarded to Charles Holder, of Portland;" the second prize to George B. Rogers, of Lexington, and the third prize to Louis Gregory, of Irvington, N. Y. The judges were Rev. Dr. W. DeL. Love, of Andover Theological Seminary, F. W. Nickerson, of Boston, and George F. Babbitt, of the Boston Post.

FROM THE NORTH.

From the Victoria papers of a recent date we collate the following news:

We have recent news from Tarcoo. The Indians on that section of the coast do most of their trading here, and the last arrival represents many white men coming into their country, and that some of them are building houses. The Indians say there is considerable snow there, and they know but little about the recent gold discoveries. Generally the Tarcoo Indians are well disposed towards the whites, and if spirituous liquors are kept from them, no trouble need be apprehended.

The Portland Gold and Silver Mining Co. are still driving ahead the tunnel on the Steward ledge, and still meeting with encouraging prospects. The rock sent down from this ledge by the last steamer induced the company to send up orders on her return to immediately open a trail from the ledge down to Silver Bay, preparatory, it is supposed, to the building of a tramway, or for the getting of machinery to the mine.

We have seen letters from Sitka up to the 16th May. The weather had been very unsettled. One writer says we have been paying up for the past fine, open winter by a succession of alternate storms of wind, rain, hail and snow—sleeting and ice not unfrequent—and the past month has really been more disagreeable than any of the preceding six. The mountains are now covered to near their base with from six to ten feet of snow. On this part of the coast my experience has been that one extreme follows another, and we may have an unusually pleasant summer.

AMUSEMENTS:

BELL RINGERS.—This evening the Alleghanians are announced to make their first appearance at Masonic Hall. The performance will consist of instrumental selections by the renowned Bell Ringers, vocal selections by Messrs. Benjamin and Phelon and the Misses Bell Durgin and Marie Packard; Benjamin's crystal chimes, and several inspiring airs by the members of the Silver Heleon Band. The entertainment will be enlivened by the appearance of those humorous troubadours, the Slymans. The performance gives encouraging assurance of proving amusing, instructive and thoroughly enjoyable. Reserved seats can be secured at Gray's Music Store.

THE BRIDGE QUESTION.

EAST PORTLAND, May 21, 1877.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The people of this side of the raging Willamette do not propose to give up the bridge question with one little skirmish. We intend to "fight it out on this line if it takes all this summer," and the next one too, and in this we feel that we have the support, and will have it in the future of nineteen twentieths of the people of Multnomah county. After hearing and reading everything that can be said against the bridge, every unprejudiced mind must confess that there is really no argument at all against it. The whole of the cry against the bridge amounts to just this, there is a great job in it, and it will increase taxation. The "job" part of the opposition is simply an indirect charge that the County Commissioners court is either corrupt or incompetent, for it can not be assumed that the County Judge and Commissioners would tolerate or entertain a jobbing scheme if they were not hand in glove with the jobbers. The county court should treat that part of the outcry with contempt which the insult deserves. As to increasing taxation it cannot be said that the bridge will cost now a trifle more than our court house and grounds cost several years ago, whilst now we have a much greater amount of taxable property and greater number of taxpayers than when the court house was erected. Now, we east siders complained of the taxation to build the court house, and where is the man who will say that a bridge across the river at this point is not of equal if not greater importance, value and benefit to the county and all the people than the court house? where is he? let him step to to the front. There are some "narrow gauge men" who always oppose every proposition to improve the county. If they had their way we would soon go back to cow-trails, foot logs and pack-mules instead of steamboats, highways, bridges and railroads.

But however could such men remonstrate it is barely possible their "Indian policy" can be allowed to control a new city like Portland which is seeking to be the emporium of the great Northwest. We want and intend to have this bridge, and a free bridge at that. We don't want any toll gate monopolies. There is enough of them in Oregon now. This is an improvement which increases and develops wealth as well as decreases the cost of living, and therefore property should build it. The history of all cities shows that the easier and cheaper the access to them the faster they grow. It is as much to the interest of Portland people to have the farmers, gardeners and all other people on this side of the river get over cheaply and at all times as it is to have them in the country at all. If any one thinks the bridge question won't win, let them make it an issue in the next election.

I believe it would be within bounds to say, out of 15,000 people in this county, not more than 100 can be found that want no bridge, and I am slow to believe that enough money can be brought to bear by the monopolists to defeat the bridge, if it is understood that that is the question.

Farmers from Washington county and Yamhill can bring their produce to this market at from $100 to $600 less than our farmers and gardeners can from Multnomah county, have no delays either day or night, come and go free at their own pleasure. Would it not be justice to the farmers and gardners in this county as all the farmers of this county or nearly all, live on the east side of the river), to establish tollgates on all of the roads on the west side, and thereby give your own farmers an equal chance to compete for your trade. All the road money collected in Portland is expended on these roads, not for the farmers of Multnomah, but Washington and Yamhill and Polk counties. This matter wants attention. We ask a careful consideration of the demands of your farmers and gardeners on this bridge question. Develope your own county first, and thereby increase valuation. This is an important question, and nothing can help us but a bridge.

THE TERRITORIES.

Three vessels are loading with lumber at the Tacoma mill.

It is said that the bottom has again dropped out of the Olympia and Tenino railroad.

Hon. Elwood Evans will deliver the address at the annual exposition of the Washington Industrial Association, on the 7th October next.

E. T. Goff, of Vermont, and C. F. Buck, of Waitsburg, W. T., have brought out to the last named place about 200 of the finest merino sheep ever received there.

At the meeting of the Northern Pacific board of directors, on May 8, the town at the Company's coal mines on the line of its branch, was named "Wilkeson," in compliment to the company's secretary.

An old row between W. M. Hudson and James Iverson, of Boise, terminated a few days ago, perhaps fatally. Hudson discharged the contents of a double-barreled shotgun at Iverson, tearing away his right hand and wounding him in the body.

Seattle Dispatch: Rents are from five to eight per cent. per month upon the actual cost of lots and buildings, in order to make them pay two per cent. upon the fictitious valuations attached to them. Our principal industries are controlled by non-resident corporations and their profits spent abroad. Hence there is no foundation for these exorbitant valuations.

Clothing is sold at prices that defy competition at Kohn's corner of First and Morrison streets.

The Medical Institute of Dr. W. L. Adams, corner of First and Salmon streets, will be removed to Hood river in a few months. Till then chronic diseases of men and women will be treated in Portland as usual. An accomplished lady assistant to give baths to ladies and assist in their treatment always in the office.

Captains and pilots will note the fact that Peter Wilhelm has fitted up two rooms for their especial use at the Fountain, corner Ash and First streets. Number of English papers on file, including the London Daily Shipping and Mercantile Gazette.

M. ROSENBLATT has returned from San Francisco with a large and well selected stock of men and boys' clothing. He intends to sell his stock at cost for the next thirty days, as he expects a large shipment of clothing from New York soon. The cheapest house is 79 Front street, bet. Stark and Washington.

Mrs. S. A. Owens, M.D., Office and residence, east side First street, between Yamhill and Taylor. Special attention given to Women and Children complaints. Also gives Medicated Vapor Baths, combined with Electricity, in treating Rheumatism and Chronic Diseases.

A remarkable advertising trick—a card stating "This card entitles the bearer to a Noble Flask of Noble Whisky." On the reverse side of this card is the explanation, "if he pays for it." Note by the editor—A commendable advertisement, but an unkind one.

Wightman, the originator and proprietor of the "Wightman Process" for the cure of Piles, blind or bleeding, is at present in San Francisco, California, where all letters should be addressed. Persons desiring the "process" can have it sent C. O. D. by express. The success that Dr. T. F. Wightman had a year since in Oregon in curing the diseases of the rectum will be his recommendation. I refer to the following patients in Oregon—I have no "agents": Jno. M. Bacon, P. M., Oregon City; E. M. Waite, Salem; A. Jennings, engineer O. & C. R. R., and many others.

OREGON.

The Daily Astorian will be revived this week.

The Salem Statesman appears in a new dress, and is much improved.

A great many sheep have been killed this spring by bears on the Calapooia above Oakland.

Last week Thos. Dixon started for Eastern Oregon from Douglas county with 550 head of cattle.

William Lambert, who was crushed by the fall of a pile of lumber near Dayton, on the 16th inst., died some days ago.

T. L. Davidson, of Marion, has resigned as secretary of the State Grange, and N. W. Randall, of Clackamas, has been appointed.

Baker Democrat: We understand that parties in Union county are trying to make arrangements to start a new paper at Union.

Mrs. W. A. Morrison, of Waterville, N. T., wants information concerning her husband, supposed to be somewhere in the West. Oregon papers requested to copy.

Mr. Able, says the Dallas Itemizer, has examined the prospects for a woolen mill at that place and is very favorably impressed with them. He thinks strongly of taking such a step.

It is proposed by the directors of the Yaquina road to grade and tie ten miles of the road between this and fall, beginning at Corvallis; and at the other end it is thought as much more will be done.

The contract for furnishing beef for Fort Klamath a few days ago was let to James Collahan at 5¼ cents per pound. The flour is furnished the same post on contract at $3 15 per hundred pounds.

William Hanna, who has been a resident of Yamhill county for more than thirty years, and of Lafayette for more than twelve years, moved to Astoria some days since where he will follow his profession as a mechanic.

Geo. Griswold, who arrived a few weeks ago from New York, in a fit of insanity jumped out of a second story window at Oakland last Tuesday night. He was not much injured. The court adjudged him insane.

Dr. Adams, who purchased W. P. Watson's place at Hood river last fall, has commenced work on his large hotel. The doctor will also build a drug store and a dwelling house, besides making a number of other improvements.

The Democrat says: "Word has been received from Camp Creek that some of the Albany boys have struck the richest ledge that has yet been discovered. It is located on Jerry Mountain, east of the silver veins, and assays away up in the hundreds."

The Plaindealer, published at Roseburg, claims great prosperity, and certainly deserves it. It is one of the most newsy and best of county papers, and is indispensable to us as a repertory of Southern Oregon news. It claims a larger circulation than any other paper in that section of the State.

The ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church of the Eugene, Creswell and Springfield charges will hold a camp meeting near Goshen, to commence the 7th of June, probably continuing over two Sundays. Quite a number of families have manifested a willingness to camp, and an interesting time is anticipated.

Last Wednesday, as a family residing heretofore on the Coast Fork of Willamette, was just starting for Eastern Oregon, their wagon was thrown off a bridge; the spine of one person was injured, the skull of another fractured and the arm of a third broken. A child was also hurt and may die, and there is little hope of the recovery of two of the others injured. The Plaindealer did not learn the name of the family.

From the Astorian: Seriously, it is our candid belief that this will be the last season for profitable salmon fishing interests on the Columbia for many years to come, and unless some scheme for replenishing the stock of fish is carried to successful completion, and means provided this year for the establishment of a permanent hatching-station, the hope for future generations of salmon in the waters of the Columbia will indeed be very slim.

At Celilo the O. S. N. Co. have built a new incline fourteen hundred feet in length and of sufficient width for two tracks. The old warehouse answered the purpose of the company as long as all the freight went up stream; but, as soon as it commenced coming down in large quantities, it was found exceedingly difficult to handle. In addition to the new incline, they have also built a new wharf boat—150 feet in length by 43 feet beam, substantially built in three water-tight compartments. With the addition of their new boat to the fleet above Celilo, the O. S. N. Co. can bring down two thousand tons of wheat a week. Each boat can make two trips a week to Wallula and return.

The Debris of the System

Must either pass through its natural channels of exit, the bowels, the kidneys and the pores, or in default thereof, poison and disorder the fluids of the system. In order to effect the complete expulsion of this dangerous refuse, the organs through which it passes off must be active and unobstructed. Fortunately there is a certain means of rendering them so when they are not. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters stimulate the action of the excretory organs, and by diffusing a genial warmth through the circulation, encourage moderate perspiration. By this triple effect the excretions of the fecal and other waste matters are encouraged, and the system freed from peril it would otherwise incur. The action of the bowels which follows the use of this beneficent alterative is easy and unaccompanied by griping, and its stimulative effect upon the urinary organs very conducive to their local health.
